DOWN TO THE SEA

BY LES BOSSHARDT, Master Mariner

"I must go down to the seas again,
To the lonely sea and the sky." — MASEFIELD

(Because of the great interest in boating among our readers, we begin this week a series of columns by Capt. Leslie Bosshardt, Master Mariner, Marine Surveyor and Certified Compass Adjuster. Each week he will deal with doings in and around the marinas and give weather information for the following weekend. We will welcome letters from readers about this new service.—Ed.

ON THE WIND WITH THE M.P.Y.C.

The first race of the new racing year was sailed by members of the Monterey Peninsula Yacht Club Sunday on the waters of Monterey Bay. Neil Weston in his 24 foot Rover class sloop took first place honors, Frank Oneil, Commodore of the club and well known creator of the strip SHORT RIBS finished in the second spot with his California 28, Frank sells this boat locally. Third place went to Tim Condon in his 24 foot Columbia Challenger.

FROM THE PILOT HOUSE

After the hard norwester that hit the area Tuesday keeping the boaters both sail and power snugged down in their berths at the marina, Wednesday broke fair and clear and all of the normal activities have resumed. Boaters and party boat skippers are bringing their craft up to Bristol condition so as to be ready for Sunday the 16th when the salmon season opens hereabouts.

A NAUTICAL WRINKLE FOR THE BOATER

The prudent boater will be sure that all equipment required by the Coast Guard to be aboard his boat is aboard. They will be very busy boarding and checking Sunday if I am any judge of their activities on the first day of salmon season.

LAUNCHING THE BOAT

Checked with Al Magnelli the Wharfinger and he assured me that the boat launching ramps in the marina are operational. Checked with Curley's boat hoist on wharf number two and found his boat launching gear all ready to take care of the many boats that will need to be put overboard come Sunday.

The Boating Family of this nation, some sixty million souls, made up of butchers, bakers, candlestick maker types and all have a common interest, that being a love of the sea and ships. If I were a doctor of medicine and I had a patient who was being unnerved by the daily grind I could recommend no finer therapy than boating, even if that boat had to be a skiff. If you need to relax go down to the sea in ships.

WEATHERWISE in the area from Cypress Point to Santa Cruz the boater can expect, Saturday through Sunday noon to be generally clear with a stable barometer. Winds will be from a northerly direction mostly northwest 15 to 20 knots in the afternoon Saturday. Moderate seas with a long northwesterly swell. Possible late afternoon mist or light rain Sunday with southerly winds. Highest daytime temperatures both days 66 degrees fahrenheit.

For our landsmen friends, weatherwise, conditions will favor all out of door activities, ashore or afloat. There is a possibility of some mist or light rain Sunday evening or early Monday morning. The wind will blow gently from the north of west Saturday and up to Sunday evening. Daytime temperatures both Saturday and Sunday will be 66 degrees fahrenheit at noon with a low of 49 degrees both nights.

Race Is On For April 14 Election

With one more week remaining in which candidates may file petitions, the April 14 general municipal election already appears to have a long list of candidates for the five four-year offices which are to be filled.

For the three council seats, which are to be filled due to the expiration of the terms of Frank Putnam, Robert Spencer and Mayor Eben Whittlesey, there are six candidates likely at this time. Contractor Paul Hazdovac, insurance man Steve Grant and interior designer Joe Danysh have taken out papers for council seats. In addition, papers for council seats have been taken out by Mrs. Olga Scheffler, Vice Admiral R. W. Hayler (ret.) and Jeanie M. Klenke, but these three latter declined to state on whose behalf they were doing so.

Hugh Bayless, incumbent city clerk and the only person seeking that office to date, has already filed his nomination papers.

City Treasurer Sam Coleman has taken out papers for his reelection to the $65 per month post. Former treasurer Harry Hilbert also has taken out papers for that office, as has postal employee Speirs Ruskell. Ruskell has filed his completed papers with the city clerk.

All papers must be filed by noon on Feb. 20, according to law.

According to a circular produced by the city clerk's office, every elector is eligible to the office for which he is an elector. In other words, any voter registered currently and for the required length of time (54 days next preceding April 14, 1964) and who has resided in the city for at least one year.

Alliance Francaise Mardi Gras a Riot of Color and Gaiety

Their hearts were young and gay, their costumes were beautiful, fantastic and hilarious.

Members of the Alliance Francaise and their friends dined, danced and frolicked at the Mardi Gras Bal Masque in a glittering array of highly original characters, last Tuesday evening. happily crowding the ballroom of the Casa Munras.

As, in true Parisian tradition, wine and spirits fermenti flowed freely, the masked guests, freed of their everyday personalities, lived up to their costume characters and fun took over.

The presiding hostess, Mrs. Jerome Carlson, president of the Alliance Francaise, greeted one and all in a folk costume of her native territoire de Belfort in France.

William Canno, vice-president and host of the evening was garbed as a sandwich man, recommending sandwiches of pate de foie gras, of course.

The judges of the colossal variety of costumes had their problems, choosing winners in the various categories.

Mmes. John Dougherty, and John Dowdakin conferred with Joseph Danysh, Les Laky and Col. J. L. Hathaway before making their pronouncements. Their selections were unanimously applauded.

Acclaimed King and Queen of Mardi Gras were Donald T. Marshall, publisher of the PINE CONE. Startling in his costume of vines and flower garlands, gloating over his giant crystal goblet brimming with wine, he was Bacchus, leering at his deliciously heathen and beautiful Bacchante, Miss Charlotte Townsend, who dutifully trundled him into the ballroom in a wheel-barrow. At one point Miss Townsend accepted the help of handling the barrow from Cyrano de Bergerac (none other than David Walton whose nose was a thing to marvel at).

Judged as wearing the cleverest costume was Mrs. L. Atkinson, exquisite as an Egyptian goddess.

Winning salvos of laughter, as the loverly provocative London drab, before she became My Fair Lady, the Countess d'Avenas was awarded prize for the funniest costume.

The group prizes went to the Parisian vagabonds, Mr. and Mrs. August Armanasco, Count and Countess Bertrand d'Avenas, Andre de Gremont (instructor of French at the Defense Language

Dear frenzied, pixied Pine Cone staff, thanks for the thought, thanks for the laugh. Thanks to people all through the land who sent me cards, and held my hand.

I left the hospital dismayed—the empty beds, the help afraid of losing jobs — fear provoking — since ev'rybody quit smoking!

Tobacco men have sold their yachts, our country's going on the rocks. The undertaker's broke: his song — too many people live too long!

The latest communistic show has landed to complete the blow, and struck our kids with germ-filled needles — those loathsome British Big Black Beetles!

The SUR COAST

By Elizabeth Fuller Jones

Now that the rainy season has arrived long the Sur Coast and within the Los Padres National Forest, and the threat and danger of fire is appreciably reduced, the personnel of the United States Forest Service, have now turned their attention to other important work necessary to maintain and improve the trails, the campsites, and the vast area that is included in these public lands. Presently, a crew of five men are developing a new trail, with its point of departure from Kirk Creek Camp (the camp is on Highway One, midway between Big Sur and San Luis Obispo County Line), then eastward to the ridge and on to Vincente Flats Camp. Stephen Goetz, foreman in charge of the Big Sur Guard Station of Los Padres National Forest tells us that this new trail "goes through some mighty beautiful country, and its destination will be Cone Peak Lookout Station." This year, however, Mr. Goetz states that the trail will be only partially completed.

Another project that a crew of three will begin work on this week, is the "Bug Crew." The work of these men is to cover the entire forest, in their area of activity, locate beetle infested pine trees, fell the trees, cut them in lengths that can be handled, and then spray them with a chemical solution. Early detection and quick and efficient handling of the 'bug' infested trees by these highly trained and experienced men of the Forest Service, prevents the spread of this damaging condition in the forest.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, Carmel Pine Cone
Dear Sir:

In your Feb. 6 issue I noted that your article on the Linus Pauling lecture was reportorial and contained no editorial comment However, it implies that the whole audience was in accord with his views. Since many did "stand to be counted" I, as one who did NOT stand, would like to express an opinion.

It was disheartening to see that so many apparently shared his cowardly attitudes, but I hope and believe that there are still quite a number who are not "running scared" and who believe in the ideals our Revolutionary ancestors spilled their blood for.

Uninformed I may be in many areas, but it took no great intellect to detect many fallacies in his statements, and no particularly long memory to recall the events prior to World War II. Shades of Neville Chamberlain's umbrella!!

None of us relishes the thought of war, but may I say, tritely perhaps, that there ARE worse things than immediate and total destruction, and Linus Pauling's rosy plan would seem to point the direct pathway to a peace with dishonor, of which I say we have had enough. This is a plea for Guts in Government to prevent a war.

Sincerely,
Marian Thomas

CUSD Board Eyes Teachers' Pay

By Bonnie Holbrook

Following the regular meeting of the Carmel Unified School District's Board of Education on Jan. 29, the board held its first study session on the subject of teachers' salaries in the district. Approximately 60 teachers and principals, certificated personnel, of CUSD were on hand for the session. It is expected that at least two months will be needed for talks and study on this matter.

Those present were given a copy of the second draft of a change in board rules governing certificated personnel and a teaching staff study made by the Association of Carmel Teachers. The former, a 14-page document, outlines the major policies and objectives set forth by the board with regard to teachers. In part it states that some of the objectives of the board are to encourage the present professional staff to remain in our system, stimulate study, maintain high professional morale, recruit capable educators, and provide a single salary schedule for all certificated personnel regardless of the level at which they teach, their sex, religion, or race.

Of the 101 teachers replying to the staff study, 50 men and 51 women, only one in five were living on their basic teaching salary. Discussion brought out the fact that in 34 districts in the state, none has as low a starting salary as Carmel, and in no other district does it take 21 years to reach maximum salary placement.

Superintendent Bair said he felt the basic issue was, "How can you spend the district's money to get the best teachers. You cannot employ such low beginning salaries and expect to recruit the best."

Dr. Robert Newton, board chairman seemed to express the feelings of the board when he said, "We must be guided not by what we want to do, but what it is possible to do with the funds available."

Some of the teachers admitted that it helps to have private means when you teach in Carmel. Junior high faculty member Joe Broadman spoke as a representative of the American Federation of Teachers. He said this group calls salary schedule time "collective begging," and would like to have it established as to whether teaching is a profession or a trade.

Peter Lyon, high school staff and A.T.C. member, summed up the basic feelings that group. "Higher starting salaries mean exciting programs with reasonably young teachers who will stay in the district and put Carmel on the map educationally."

The study sessions will continue at the next board meeting on Thursday, Feb. 13.

PADRE PATTER

by Mary Hurn

We are now in the second semester of this year. Those of us who are seniors have only one more semester left of high school. There are many reactions to the question "What do you think when you realize you have only one more semester left in high school?" Last week, I interviewed several seniors and these are their answers.

Barbara Bruce said she was scared." She said, "Half of me wants to go on and half of me wants to go back . . . I want my Mommy!" Seriously, Barb is planning to attend MPC next fall. Michele Judge had a similar reaction. Michele's comment was, "I'm panicked!" She is planning to go to either MPC or San Jose. She is also considering a tour of Europe.

Steve Arnon, when asked the question, had a dry "no comment." He then said, "Let me think about it."

Jim Purvis was on the practical (?) side when he answered, "No more finals!! High school finals, I mean." Jim plans to go to either Harvard or Columbia and major in pre-med or biochemistry.

Al Nishimura said he was pretty sad." When asked why, he said, "I'm enjoying it. I like high school." Al plans "hopefully to go to college" next fall at Stanford or Dartmouth. Chris Bingham, unlike Al, said, "Thank heavens!" Chris plans to go to MPC for two years then study German at the University of Vienna.

Gwen McEwen said she realized that "it's time to start working, but I'll be glad to get out." She is going to go to MPC to study nursing.

Carlin Arriola said, "I'm nappy and also scared—high school is a source of security but now I'm going to be out of high school." Carlin plans to attend the University of California at Santa Barbara. He plans to study anthropology, art, or music, but Carlin added "but then, I'm sure there are other courses of which I know nil."

Nice day for a dryer.

But then again, so is every day. Because in addition to letting you dry the wash day or night—in any weather—a dryer dries better than anything under the sun. For example, with new damp dry settings, clothes come out just right for ironing. And some things need no ironing at all. Clothes also come out as clean as they went in. No clothesline marks, dust or dirt. Dryers also have a real soft touch. All your laundry comes out light and fluffy.

So far we haven't even mentioned how much work a dryer saves. But it will save you lugging two tons of wet wash a year.

Sierra Club Alarmed at Plan to Open Ridge Rd.

The Sierra Club and other conservation groups on the Monterey Peninsula are alarmed over the report that the U.S. Forest Service is planning to open to the public an existing one lane dirt road that commences at the Post Ranch several miles south of Big Sur State Park, rises to the crest of the range and continues south to the San Luis Obispo County line. Forest Service officials state that this is part of a ten-year plan for the development of the National Forest, as it pertains to the Monterey District of the Los Padres National Forest. One of the most important objectives of the Forest Service's concept of multiple use management is making more publicly owned areas available for public use. In this instance, 155 camp and picnic sites are programmed for this district in addition to the opening of the road. It is stated that the completion of the Ridge Road also would alleviate access problems for the Forest Service and State fire fighting personnel and equipment.

As a group that is dedicated to the preservation of the nation's natural treasures, the Sierra Club is also concerned in making more public land available to the public as well as concurring with the plan that will make conditions easier and safer for the fire fighting units.

Club members point out that there is much land in this division of the Los Padres National Forest that could be made available to those who really want to enjoy it. They are in favor of new camp sites and new trails. However, from sad experience they observe the irrefutable evidence in the Sierra Nevada, the Cascades and elsewhere in our land that when a road is put into an area that should be kept intact that this marks the beginning of a blight that ultimately destroys its beauty and usefulness. The Sierra Club feels that this generation or any generation does not have the right to despoil wilderness that was meant to be enjoyed by those who follow as well as those of the present.

The local groups believe that the opening of the road would multiply the problems of the U.S. Forest Service, the California Division of Forestry, and the local property owners who are ever apprehensive about forest and brush fires.

Therefore, they are suggesting to the Forest Service that the Ridge Road be completed for the protection of the area but remain closed to the public for motor vehicle use.

Klaumann's Team Wins Again 56-2

The boys from Sunset School scored more victories this past Saturday in their intramural basketball games played in the Carmel High School gym. Every boy on Mr. Klaumann's team scored to bring them to a 56-2 victory over Mr. Hoover's yellow team from Tularcitos School.

Derik Cotchett scored a high of twenty points on Mr. Klaumann's team with Dan Yurkovich and Mar Goodrich playing a good floor game. The Tularcitos School boys put up a good defence but seemed to be unable to get the ball through the basket. On the Tularcitos team Glen Risdon and Jim Dickinson performed especially well.

In the second game Mr. Douglas' team defeated Mr. Hoover's blue team from Tularcitos by a much narrower margin wtih a score of 29-14. Every boy also scored on Mr. Douglas' team with Joe Nesbitt and Mark Spindler the high scorers. All six of Mr. Hoover's boys played outstanding defence, but their offence was not good enough to match the boys from Sunset.

Mardi Gras High Jinks At the Howard Allens

Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Allen hosted a Mardi Gras dance and supper party Saturday night at their Pebble Beach home. The clever invitations read "Le Tempre De Mardi Gras" . . . only the Devil Regrets!"

Honor guest at the gala affair was Mrs. Allen's sister, Mrs. W. P. McEneaney, who is visiting here from Larchmont, New York. Also present was their mother, Mrs. Elliott Slocum Nichols from Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, who is spending the winter in Pebble Beach.

The patio court of the Allen home was covered to provide extra room and decorated with fruit trees to which large orange and yellow blossoms and tiny Christmas tree lights had been added. Huge birdcages hung from the ceiling. Two large masks were over the fireplace and hundreds of balloons were placed about the rooms.

All the guests came in costumes and were masked until midnight. The hosts greeted their guests in Thailand costumes and then changed to red and white bunny outfits. Mrs. McEneaney came out as "Puddy Cat." Mrs. Richard Osborne was pretty as the "Moon Maid," and Brooks Firestone was handsome as a maharajah.

Mrs. Harry A. Leonard was a leopard while her husband came as a lion tamer. Richard Osborne's IBM Machine costume was very clever and people spent the evening posing unusual questions for the machine to answer.

Mrs. Arthur Hately, Jr., who with her husband hosted a drink and soup party before the affair, was a Tahitian; Mrs. W. W. Durney represented the roaring 20's, and he rhusband was a Spaniard; the William Bartholds were clowns (Mrs. Barthold had a broken ankle). There were several "Beetles" including Richard Collins, Charles O'Gara and William vander Sluis. Mrs. Roy Woods was a Grecian goddess and he was Hercules; Mrs. Herbert Alward, who brought her nephew, Dr. Thomas Clewe, who is on the staff at Vanderbilt, unearthed a beautiful hoop skirted gown with a poke bonnet. He was Salvador Dali's cousin, "Dilly Dali."

Stuyvesant Fish arrived as an Arab, and Dr. Edmund von Hasseln was completely unknown in his daughter's ski helmet .The Francis Palms were Bedouins, and Mrs. Stafford Hughes in a white ballerina costume won the prize for being the most beautiful. Mrs. Marie Davis surprised everyone with her maid's costume, bright red wig and a gold front tooth. Dr. James Niebel was a handsome cowboy; Calvin Wheeler, "Tom Jones," and the James Glaser, Jrs. were Marie Antoinette and Louis XVI.

Anthony Hobson At Missile Base

Marine Private Anthony C. Hobson , the son of Mrs. Lucille W. Hobson of Carmel Valley has just returned to the U.S. Missile Base at Twentynine Palms where he will complete his tour of duty in April.

Anthony was born in Hollywood. He attended the Grekel School in Encino and the Orme Ranch School in Prescott, Ariz. When the family moved to Atherton Anthony attended Menlo College and when they moved to Carmel, two years ago, he entered Monterey Peninsula College.

Upon completion of his service in the Marines Anthony will return to M.P.C. He looks forward to a career in public relations, with emphasis on radio and television.

Artist Father of D.L.I Turkish Deparment Head Honored by Turkish Government

Velid Dag, Chairman of the Turkish Department, Defense Language Institute, West Coast Branch, Presidio of Monterey, Calif., received an unusual surprise this week in the form of a 10 kurus postage stamp bearing the likeness of his father, Sevket Dag, an internationally acclaimed Turkish artist.

10 Kurus postage stamp

The senior Dag, who specialized in both oils and watercolors depicting interiors of churches and mosques, passed away in 1944, and the stamp in his honor has just been issued by the Turkish government on the 20th anniversary of his death. For more than 15 years, the master painted from the famous St. Sophia Church, now a museum.

Dag was additionally a member of the Turkish National Assembly (similar to the U.S. Congress) at the time of his death and had been elected to three terms. He was also President of the Art Association in Istanbul and a teacher of the arts in normal schools and the Istanbul School of Fine Arts for over 30 years.

Several of his most valuable paintings are exhibited in the Turkish National Art Gallery and many are in private collections in the United States. Dag, who had also participated in showings in Paris, won medals and recognition for his creations in Germany, France, Austria and Bulgaria. His son, Velid, owns two of his gifted father's works and has them on display in his Pebble Beach home.

"I recall my father as a stern self-disciplinarian," Velid said. "He never smoke or drank, and was so against smoking he carried candies in his pocket to hand out to friends as a substitute for the cigarettes they were about to light. He also had a very warm sense of humor," the son adde Velid was educated at Robert College, an American-supported school in Turkey. He left for the United States in 1939 to d[illegible] uate work at the Universty of Indiana. After receiving his master of arts, he was employed in the speech clinic of the same university until 1947, when he was hired to organize the Turkish Language Department at the Army Language School.

Carmel Rancho Community Hall Setting for Richard Lofton Show

Most recent paintings of Richard Lofton, Carmel artist, are on display during the month of February in the Carmel Rancho Community Hall, at the entrance to Carmel Valley. An invitational preview was held Saturday, Feb. 1, with some 200 people attending the event.

The show, consisting of 21 paintings, includes newest winter landscapes from the artist's trip to Sun Valley, Idaho, last month. Four oil portraits on exhibit are those of artists John Boit Morse, Pat Carel and Robert Davey; cartoonist Eldon Dedini; and sculptor Arch Gardner. Seven of the pictures are devoted to mythological theme.

Richard Lofton, a resident of Carmel for the past eighteen years is a native of South Carolina. He was graduated from the Citadel, the Military College of South Carolina, and subsequently attended the National Academy of Design. He came to the Monterey Peninsula and Fort Ord during World War II and was separated from the armed services with the grade of Captain in the Coast Artillery. He then established his home in Carmel with his wife, Nancy. The Loftons have two daughters: Nancy (age 21) and Melissa (age 13), and are residents of Hatton Fields.

Mr. Lofton has had one-man shows at the De Young Museum and the Lucien galleries in the West. He has often exhibited locally over the years. His work is in the permanent collections of the following institutions: the De Young, Santa Barbara and Cleveland Museums of Art; the Monterey Public Library; the Staten Island Institute of Arts and Letters; the Gibbes Art Gallery of Charleston, South Carolina.

The current show is open to the public this month during week days from nine until four in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center's newest building. It is one of a series of art events planned for the new Community Hall during the year.

Thomas Sange One-Man Show at Galerie de Tours

The Galerie de Tours on Lincoln street near Ocean avenue in Carmel, is featuring this month, through Mar. 5, 1964, a one-man show of oil paintings and drawings by Thomas Sange. Hours, daily noon to five p.m. The gallery is closed on Wednesdays.

A native of Winnipeg, Canada, where he was born in 1906, Thomas Sange is a resident of the San Francisco Bay area.

In his youth Thomas Sange was a boxer and later became a fine golfer. Always interested in music and painting, it was in 1949 that he chose to paint full-time. He studied Professor Harry Krell and at the California College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland.

Sange has exhibited his work at the Oakland Art Association Annual and the Jack London Square Art Festival. His work was shown at the Oakland Art Musuem in '62 and '63, and he received a top award in oil painting at the Walnut Creek Annual Pageant of Art in '63.

Selected Motion Pictures for Children on Saturdays

Movies for all children of the Peninsula are being shown every Saturday afternoon at the All Saints' Church in Carmel. Films are carefully selected for presentation—Walt Disney films, documentary films of interest to the younger children, in both color and black and white. Some of the movies shown in the past have been: "Challenge to Lassie," "Dumbo," "Story of Seabiscuit," "The Horse With the Flying Tail," "Nature's Half Acre," "Alice in Wonderland," and others.

The parents of students in the Bishop Kip School present the afternoon performances, assist with the film showing as well as tend to the needs of the children while they are at the show. There is no charge to see these movies, but a donation is asked of each person, and this money is given to the Bishop Kip School toward their Building Fund and other expenses.

Each performance starts at 2:00 p.m., Saturday and ends about 3:45 p.m. Parents who are planning to give a birthday party for their child, might enjoy bringing the group of children to the movies for the entertainment of the guests, as part of the celebration.

The following movies are planned for the month of February:

Feb. 8: "Courage of Lassie."

Feb. 15: "The Living Desert."

Feb. 22: "Mysteries of the Deep" and "Stormy the Thorobred."

A list of the movies to be shown from month to month will be published, so those children planning to attend may anticipate the movie they are to see.

Any questions concerning the Bishop Kip School Saturday afternoon movies will be answered by Mrs. Palmer Beaudette, 624-3180; Mrs. Alvin F. Andrus, 624-4527; Mrs. Donnan Jeffers, 624-7910.

Hedy Lamarr Film Opens M.P.C. Spring Series

"Extase," a Czechoslovakian film noted for its use of the visual simile and symbol, will open the spring Theater Arts Group film series at Monterey Peninsula College tomorrow evening.

The picture will be shown twice: at 7 and 9 p.m. One hundred free tickets which have not been earmarked as season tickets will be available for each screening. These must be picked up in person in the college administration building—but not before Monday, February 10, according to John G. Schaub, evening division dean.

Calle dby Raymond Spottiswood "the finest imagist film yet made," "Extase" stars Hedy Keisler (Hedy Lamarr) under the direction of Gustav Machaty.

Edison A. Holt

Edison A. Holt, former well known Carmel Valley resident died Saturday in St. Luke's Hospital, San Francisco, after a brief illness.

Mr. Holt was born in 1898 in Stockton, son of the late Benjamin Holt, inventor of the Caterpillar tractor. He graduated in 1921 from the University of California, where he was a member of Zeta Psi fraternity.

Mr. Holt was a partner in the San Francisco investment firm of Holt and Collins and until its recent sale to Del Monte Properties Co., owned and operated an 18,000 acre ranch near the Farm Center in Carmel Valley. He was a member of the Pebble Beach Cypress Point Club, the Bohemian and Pacific Union Clubs of San Francisco.

In 1953, he constructed a stage for the huge natural amphitheater on his Carmel Valley ranch and as an Easter gift to the community brought the Carmen Dragon orchestra and the San Francisco Ballet here for a gala open-air concert.

The following year, in cooperation with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, he arranged a second musical event for the benefit of the Cancer Research Society. In the fall of 1955, a pops concert was presented with guest opera stars and Carmen Dragon's symphony orchestra again featured.

The events were dedicated to the memory of his parents, the late Benjamin and Anna Brown Holt.

Mr. Holt leaves his wife, Jane Flahaven Watson Holt of San Francisco and Stinson Beach; three children by his former marriage: Mrs. Gerard F. (Elsie) Franken of Naarden, Holland, Edison A. Holt, Jr., of San Francisco, and Patricia Anne Holt of Carmel, a student at Santa Catalina School for Girls; a brother, William K. Holt of San Antonio, Tex., and a granddaughter, Rody Franken of Naarden, Holland.

Funeral services were held in the N. Gray & Co. Chapel in San Francisco. Private inurnment followed.

Friends wishing to make contributions in the memory of Mr. Holt may do so to the Heart Assn. of San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Daut celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary, receiving 200 guests.

Salute to the Wm. Dauts Celebrating Their 60th

In a gown of heaven blue and silver, topped by a stole of pastel pink French illusion net, and wearing a corsage of white orchids, Mrs. William F. Daut, with her groom of sixty years ago, at her side, greeted more than 200 guests in the West Parlor of Carmel Valley Manor. The reception was to celebrate the Daut's wedding that took place in St. Louis, in 1904.

The afternoon reception in the flower bowered parlor was followed by a formal dinner in the Manor's main dining room for 175 friends of the silver haired couple. Two wedding cakes encircled with flowers formed the centerpieces. They were unique in that they formed a six and a zero.

Friends came from all parts of the west coast to honor the bride and groom who received messages from their son, Dr. William F. Daut of Spokane, Wash., and their daughter, Mrs. John H. Clawson of Anchorage, Alaska.

Two guests chat at the 60th Anniversary gala, Mr. Roy Hawley and Mrs. Florence Warren are residents of Carmel Valley Manor.

Fashion Show Nets $2998 for Guide Dogs

Mrs. James H. Parks of the local Board of Directors of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., reports a total of $2,998.00 in memberships has been recorded, taken in during the recent fashion show "Alice in Fashion-land" at Del Monte Lodge, and received through the mails since. The Association's goal is $2700, the cost of two man-dog units.

"Our membership drive is a year 'round affair," said Mrs. Parks, "because the ned for trained dogs is never completely filled. We hope that the recent avalanche of membership checks will keep on and on." Mrs. Parks' box number is Rt. 2, Box 488, Carmel.

The fashion show, with unusual theme, attracted an enthusiastic audience who found the young dancers, students of Patricia Ramsey's Ballet de Patrice, talented and delightful; the commentator, Rev. H.M.M. Nicholas, thoroughly amusing and the models, wearing advance spring fashions, nothing short of breathtaking. The "Wonderland" continuity was produced by Mrs. Rhea Diveley, with Susan Lee of the First Theater of Monterey, at the piano.

Miss Marion Kingsland is honorary chairman of Guide Dogs for the Blind with David Wisnon as treasurer.

The Board of the Monterey Peninsula Committee includes: Miss Helen Heavey, vice-chairman; Mmes. Eleanor Gann, Miriam M. Godwin, Patrick H. Hudgins; also Mmes. Guy L. Cochran, Olney Girard, Kenneth C. Krentz, George A. Marston, Sally Hull Pierce, H. M. M. Nicholas and Mrs. Parks, chairman of the Show.

M.P.V.S. Gives Reports and Plans for 1964

An enthusiastic vote by the membership of the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services at their general meeting last Friday, assured the Project Administrator, Mrs. Charles H. Conley, of their willingness to support her presentation of projects during 1964.

The 13th Annual Garden Tour for the benefit of the Visiting Nurse Association will be held on Wednesday, July 15th, and October 7th has been chosen as the date for the Third Annual Flea Market at the Monterey Fair Grounds. The MPVS Thrift Shop at 785 Broadway, Seaside is a continuing major project of the organization and offers an opportunity for local agencies to participate in net profits for specified periods of time on a reciprocal working arrangement. In submitting her report on January Thrift Shop earnings, Shop Administrator, Mrs. Mary T. Thomas, indicated a need for additional merchandise to be sold at the shop. Mrs. S. Y. Cutler, Personnel and Sales Chairman needs additional workers for her sales force in the shop.

Mrs. C. M. Jett opened the meeting by thanking Mrs. David Richardson and her Hospitality Committee for the Coffee Hour which accented the Valentine theme with traditional hearts and cupids and brilliant red, and silhouettes of golden cherubs.

Reported was $2,050 given in donations during the month of January, by Miss Ruth Blanchard, Finance Chairman. $850 of the total was given for library equipment to the Senior Citizens of Pacific Grove; $200 to the Girl Scouts; $400 was allocated to the Monterey Peninsula Christmas Bureal, $200 of which was to be used to remove a 1963 deficit and the balance to represent the 1964 donation by MPVS. The Alcoholic Council received $350 for the purchase of a duplicating machine and $250 was given in support of the Tri-County Science Fair.

The 1964 Finance Committee includes Mmes. Archer Allen, Lawrence Kinsler, Laurids Jorgenson, C. Hugh Utley and C. M. Jett. Mrs. Minna Goodwin, treasurer, submitted the auditor's report for 1963 and figures showing earnings and disbursements during the month of January.

Minutes of the January meeting at which Mrs. C. M. Jett assumed the presidency of MPVS were read by Mrs. C .E. Howland, recording secretry; Mrs. Ransome Lichty acknowledged an invitation from the Winnie-the-Pooh Chapter of the Children's Home Society to submit an entry in their table setting project to be held April 22.

Brief reports were presented by Mrs. J. Arthur Weeks, publicity-chairman; Mrs. Thurman Bane, Membership; Mrs. Howard Healey, Office and Suplies and Mrs. Edward McMurtry spoke of her activity as Courtesy Chairman. Miss Claire Kennedy was introduced as Records Custodian. Mrs. Jett adjourned the meeting at eleven thirty, but several members stayed on to offer their services where needed in the promotion of this year's projects.

"Night of the Auk" Enthralls First Nighters

Go and strap yourself into your seat at the Wharf Theater and, with the cast of "The Night of the Auk" be ready for the blast off. Cole Weston, producer-director, has mounted an impressive production with a splendid all-male cast.

"Night of the Auk" is drama in a new mold—a rocket ship returning from interstellar space — result is good theatre, provocative and entertaining.

Science fiction buffs will probably argue about some of the play's technical jargon but none will argue with the author's dramatic message. Arch Oboler uses the theme of the Bomb as a device for dramatic suspense and as a platform for some soul-searching rhetoric; done in blank verse, aided and abetted by shrill, ear-provoking, science-fiction-type sounds.

The play has five characters and a sixth in the wings, so to speak, whose death (he was last seen running screaming with hands outstretched before him on the moon's surface) is a cause for deep speculation ranging from burning suspicion to far-out philosophy. The five speculators are like the ten little Indians—and the only disappointment is the ending, which leaves two survivors instead of none.

It is difficult for this reviewer to name a leading man in this unique drama, or to cite one as 'best actor.' Each character is vital to the whole, each of the five actors gives a top notch performance, going deeply into his characterization.

Walt Falconer as Col. Tom Russell, is deliberately unimaginative, living according to the book, rather trite, yet his exit creates the moment of highest audience tension. Paul Holden, as the financier of the expedition, ambitious to be recognized by posterity, gives a colorful, highly dramatic performance. Ed Ledger, as the young man grasping at all straws of hope despite inevitable tragedy, gives an excellent performance, free of tear-jerking sentimentality, a temptation to a less experienced actor. Milton Trexler as Lt. Kephart, embittered by the moon death of his father and the failure of his whole world of scientific ambitions, is superb. It is Ron Martin, portraying the scientific leader of the flight, who dominates, with gripping intensity, the final climactic scene. The enthralled audience sat breathless, as the curtain fell. The impact of "Night o fthe Auk" was delivered by a quintette of five extremely able, well directed and talented actors.

Marlinde von Ruh's set and John Pate on the sound board do not produce a shining space ship (which was the playwright's intention) but the mood is caught and that is what you need for good theater.

In California...
after bowling, beer is a natural

After you've bowled a game or two, or when you're winding up the evening at the neighborhood bowling center, it's good to relax with friends and compare scores. What better way to add to the sport and the sociableness than with a refreshing glass of beer? However you take your fun—skiing, skating, or at your ease in the game room—beer always makes a welcome addition to the party.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

In California...beer goes with fun, with relaxation

Ovation for Merriman Symphony Guest Artist

Mezzo-soprano Nan Merriman appeared as soloist with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra Tuesday evennig. As their opening selection the orchestra played the "Pre-Classic Suite Opus 71," by Creston. Relatively a short phased musical work rendering dance music with wide variety of instrumental sonority. Written in three movements, the orchestra handled the composition with a compact harmonic flow that had much beauty. The composer used to a maximum all string and wind sections and the short themes appear and vanish and reappear in almost a magical fashion. The result being rather less Pre-Classic and more Romantic (French).

All vocal demands were extraordinarily met as Miss Merriman then appeared in Gustave Mahler's "Songs of the Wayfarer." Immediately projecting the voice with still a very youthful tint, and much beauty and reliable quality. The orchestra responded beautifully to Conductor John Gosling and this was delicate and neatly balanced and the tone both glowing and singing. And so the music of only Mahler arose.

"Symphony No. 7 in A Major" followed last on the program. The orchestra was not as responsive here as in the earlier part of the evening's program and some weak moments were evident. Unanimity was sketchy. The fuzzy attacks and the different section entrances were distracting. The string and woodwind sections were aware of the sensitive lyric passages throughout. Of the four movements, the Allegretto and the Presto were with most merit. It is the opinion of this reviewer that more attention could and should have been applied to Beethoven.

Music Society Presents a Brilliant Concert

Having chosen the, "Sonata in D, Opus No. 2," by Hindemith, Ruggiero Ricci opened his Carmel Music Society concert last Friday evening. His brilliant performance began boldly with strong punctuation. His virtuosity was indeed applauded, even though one was immediately aware this selection is not a violin solo vehicle as it gives the piano equal prominence. Ricci, certainly an expert, embracing a performing style of perfect virtuosity. The artist's brilliant intonation and impeccable attack cut clean every time and the melodious moments benefit from his uncommon ability to spin a musical line with the utmost grace, full of warmth and geniality. Here he gave a most complete projection of his art.

The evening's second selection was the "Sonata in C Minor, Opus 30, No. 2," by Beethoven. This sonata and its expressive character for perfection in form and content gave Virtuoso Ricci every opportunity to sparkle adding up to superlative fiddling.

Undeniably, the concerts finest moment was during the "Partita in B Minor," by Bach. Here, Bach provides the artist many opportunities for variety of feeling, mood and color. Unaccompanied the complete Bach was heard in a way only intended to be played on the violin.

The closing selection programmed was Paganini's "Il Palpiti." Using this dazzling and electrifying composition which always has sure-fire audience appeal, Ruggiero Ricci climaxed his concert after two encores and so came the end of a thrilling evening.

Carlo Bussotti provided the piano accompaniment which at times almost outdid the bravura of the soloist; however composition demands were also his. Little less emphasis on his part would have sufficed.

Pirandello's Henry IV Coming to Circle Feb. 21

One of the great masters of modern drama, Nobel Prize-winner Luigi Pirandello, will be represented on the local stage for the first time in many years when his own favorite work, Henry IV, opens February 21 at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre.

The infrequency with which Pirandello's masterpieces, such as Six Characters in Search of An Author, have been produced by little theaters may be due to the enormous demands he makes upon actors. In Henry IV, for instance, the central character may or may not be mad; and the audience is kept guesssing throughout three acts as to the state of his sanity. The role has long been a favorite with star actors in Europe, and Henry IV has had at least three major productions in Paris during the last decade.

The monarch in question is not Shakespeare's Henry IV, but a Holy Roman Emporer of the eleventh century. The drama, however, takes place in our own time; and the interplay of the Dark Ages with the twentieth century is one of the many fascinating theatrical efects which are the hallmark of Pirandello.

The emotional fireworks of this highly charged play will explode against an atmospheric setting by Barbara Tripp and impressive medieval costumes by Ted Huffman. Frederick Rider has staged the play, in his first directorial assignment since The Tenth Man, produced at the Circle a year ago. It is scheduled to run on week ends through April 5, with Sunday matinees at 3 p.m. replacing former Sunday-evening performances.

Woman's Club to Hear Morgan Stock

Mr. Morgan Stock of M.P.C. faculty will speak on drama, and the history of drama next Monday at the Carmel Woman's Club in their headquarters at 9th and San Carlos Streets..

For several years Mr. Stock has been head of the Speech and Drama Department at M.P.C. He received his B.A. and M.A. from Stanford University and has since attended a number of other schools including U.C.L.A. and one term at the Shakespeare Institute at Stratford-on-Avon in England. He is a member of the Screen Arts Guild and is widely known for his professional theatrical work on the stage and in T.V.

The meeting will begin at 2 p.m. and Mr. Stock's talk will be followed by refreshments.

Members who will assist in serving are Mrs. Lucy Edquist; Mrs. Carroll S. Stoddard; Mrs. Myrtle R. Stoddard and Miss Gwen Tudor. Those at the tables who will pour are Mrs. Walter P. Biascoe; Mrs. Roy W. Elliott; Mrs. Ernest G. E. Friez; and Mrs. Henry P. Small.

Jan Kessler to Open Theater Work Shop

Jan Kessler, internationally known mime, whose recent one-man show at the Studio Theater attracted a capacity audience, will open a Children's Theater Workshop in Carmel's Theater-in-the-Ground as soon as the tiny theater is completely refurbished. Little used during the past years, the auditorium and stage are sadly in need of cleaning and paint. Mr. Kessler is searching for volunteers who will give off-hours days, evening, and week-ends, to the job. Men and women, boys and girls interested in seeing the Children's Workshop come into operation are requested to call Fr 2-5514 for further information.

The talented actor-mime plans classes in theater and the psychological approach to acting through outdoor study, under Carmel pines and on the beach. Parents may register children now.

Mrs. Fritz Wurzmann to Appear in Concert

Mrs. Fritz Wurzmann will present a piano concert at next Wednesday afternoon's program at The Carmel Foundation Town House at 3 p.m. Tea will follow at 4 p.m.

Sunday afternoon Open House has begun again at Town House from 2 to 4 p.m. Members and their friends are invited to come and bring friends for a chat around the fire and a cup of tea.

Deadline time is approaching for anyone who wishes to join the "Europe in the Spring" tour being sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Garden Club. The Senior Tours Committee travel folder will be mailed to anyone requesting it.

M.P.C. Will Consider a Lady Chemist

A position is open for a part-time laboratory instructor at Monterey Peninsula College, Milton Bristow, chairman of the chemistry department, announced today.

Because the job offers only nine hours weekly, Bristow has in mind a qualified housewife—"perhaps a Navy or Army wife"—with extra time on her hands, or possibly a man who is semi-retired or working evenings in another profession.

Applicants must have a recent bachelor's or master's degree in chemistry. Working hours would be Mondays, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., and

HAIKU FOR A BAMBOO TREE
Yesterday I looked Down on the bamboo . . . today in
The heat it looks down.

Bamboo shoots, green and small
Tomorrow rattling fishpoles,
Slim and tall.

Bamboo splinters fed
To fire — rekindle old loves
Arouse new desires.

Bamboo cup lifted
To lip — drink, drink — renew my Life, please, bit by bit.

AN ETCHING
My neighbor's almond tree is an etching
as truly as one made from an artist's plate.

It stands as an umbrella—
coverless,
ribs lined in daintiness against the grey winter's sky,

Then, in March
all glory lets loose and blobs of pink land
here — there and there,
But, I remember the beauty of that etching
upon the grey winter's sky.

Spring is coming . . . I can hear
A green wind humming emerald clear
Spring is in your Daddy's eyes
Shamrocks whisper lullabies
Spring is in your Daddy's singing
About swallows winging
Spring is in your Mommy's laugh
A green wind writes her autograph!

MARY ANN PUTNAM

BUT TO REMEMBER
Burst yellow buds upon the trees!
Dally with worms you robins in the grass.
Spring's singing grandly in our hearts
Of youth's first love that will not pass.

Play to the skies, you piping Pan!
Passion will chance the hearing of a note.
Lips that have met for their first kiss
Know all Love's melodies by rote.

MAN TOWARD A SUMMIT
Sun was contempt to sere his road —
No brook, no shade.
Cars gravelled up the grade
But never slowed.
Dust sucked his breath. His feet dragged on the road.

Young twitters woke in summit trees.
Down that steel slope
He heard; and tasted hope
Along the breeze
That flowed its promise soft from summit trees.

And now he strode light. Goodwill was a cloud.
Leaned, quilting sun.
Drops ventured one by one
Then streamed, a crowd;
And now he strode light. Goodwill was a cloud.

M.P.C. Consumer Ed. Lectures Open to All

An evening division course in consumer education at Monterey Peninsula College, designed to develop in students a knowledge and appreciation of qualities and values in various goods, has been announced as open to the public.

David Hopkins, instructor, says so much interest has been shown in the Wednesday evening lectures by Peninsula businessmen and women that the class will be held in MPC's library lecture hall to accommodate outsiders who wish to attend without credit.

The class opened February 5 with a talk by Mrs. Lorraine Luker of the Family Service Agency. Future lectures will include "Money and the Family," by Dr. Joseph Ryan, psychologist, February 19; "Shopping for Food," Mary Rile, MPC home economics department chairman, February 26; "Retailer's Viewpoint," Howard Brunn, and "Shopping for Clothing," Miss Rile, March 4.

The March 11 session wil feature auctioneer Dan Turrentine and merchants Fred Stanley and Vern Thompson on "Shopping for Furniture," "Shopping for Appliances" and "Shopping for Automobiles." Realtor Thiel Hampton will discuss "Buying a Home" March 18.

John Mahoney will lecture on "Buying Insurance—Health, Property and Casualty" April 1; Victor Dee on "Life Insurance" April 8; attorneys Robert Tuttle and Charles Stewart on "Wills, Estate Planning and Contracts" April 15; Jack B. Knapp on "Consumer Credit" April 22; Rollo Payne on "Buying Securities — Investments" April 29; George Yates on "Mutual Funds" May 6, and Frank Wilkinson on "Establishing Credit Ratings" May 13.

Margi Setchel, manager of the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, and a representative of the National Association of Manufacturers will discuss "Better Business Bureau" and "Consumer Protection" May 20.

All sessions begin at 7 p.m. and all will be held in the library lecture hall except those on March 11, April 8 and May 13, when the class will meet in room B-3.

School District Heads Blast Unruh Bill

Asked for his opinion of Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh's proposed bill to virtually abolish most of California's local school districts, Carmel's Unified School District Superintendent Medill Bair staes, "The passing of the Unruh proposed bill would guarantee California's schools complete mediocrity, it is political blackmail."

The bill came under fire last Thursday from the President of the California School Boards Association, Kenneth F. Saysette, President of the San Mateo Union High School District, San Mateo County.

"Mr. Unruh's proposal is a flagrant deviation from the pattern of orderly progress toward properly determined and adequately studied reorganized districts in California which the Master Plan for School District Organization, enacted by the Legislature in 1959 and administered by the State Board of Education is making possible. This sudden and precipitate proposal to establish countywide school districts now has been given the false guise of economy. Whatever the benefits of large unified districts may be, no one has proved that they are, in general, more economical. We are not misled, and we believe that the taxpayers of the state will see through this scheme to deprive them of their locally controlled school districts which are close to the people.

"The people will not want to lose their right to vote locally on school district reorganization. Mr. Unruh's proposal is merely a warmed-over version of the county-wide school tax proposed to and rejected by the Legislature in the last two sessions. Under both plans, school tax revenues would be derived from exactly the same countywide source—namely local property taxes.

"The California School Boards Association will oppose the countywide school district proposal which would rob the people of their voice in the affairs of their community and schools. We shall ask the Legislature to reject Mr. Unruh's ill-conceived proposal."

Model A's Gather Here Next Sunday

The Model A Club of the Monterey Peninsula, a group of 30 dedicated members, will assemble with the owner's antique Ford cars next Sunday, at the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center at the entrance to Carmel Valley. Nonmember owners of Model A Fords on the Monterey Peninsula are cordially invited to join the event.

The group, headed by president James Mangin, is a branch of a national club, and calls itself the G.R.A.M.P.A. Chapter (Good Restored A's Monterey Peninsula Association"). The San Francisco Bay area chapter was recently hosted here at the local club's invitation.

The Sunday event will be an informal gymkhana in the Center's east roadway starting at 1 p.m. Members will adjourn to the beach in midafternoon for a picnic. The public is invited to view the antique cars at no charge while they are in the shopping center.

Newsman Howard K. Smith to Speak at M.P.C. Tomorrow Night

Howard K. Smith, a newsman who has probably received more journalistic awards than any other newsman now speaking and writing regularly on world affairs, will lecture at Monterey Peninsula College tomorrow. He will address an Armory audience on "The Changing Challenge to America" at 8 p.m.

Free tickets for the lecture may be obtained by writing the MPC Evening Division, 980 Fremont, Monterey, and requesting not more than four. Requests must be accompanied by stamped, self- addressed envelopes and should reach the college by Monday, February 10.

Smith's appearance at MPC is one of a series in a coast-to-coast lecture tour before college and community organizations—his first such tour in many years.

Since joining ABC News in December, 1961, the distinguished commentator and author became the only working newsman to win the Paul White Award, won the DuPont Award for the second time, and was nominated for an Emmy for "Howard K. Smith," his ABC-TV program that ran for 17 months.

Newsman Howard K. Smith

For 20 years Smith was on the CBS news staff, during many of those years serving as the network's chief European correspondent, covering World War II from 1941 to the Nuremberg war crimes trials. In 1957, he became CBS News Washington correspondent, and in March, 1961, was appointed chief correspondent and manager for the Washington Bureau.

For his work in Europe, he was awarded four consecutive Overseas Press Club Annual Awards for "best reporting from abroad." During 1956, he received a DuPont Commentator Award and the Sig-Sigma Delta Chi award for news writing.

He has been awarded five honorary degrees, including a Doctorate of Laws from his alma mater, Tulane University.

In 1961, he was presented with an Emmy Award for writing "CBS Reports: The Population Explosion," in which he also seryed as narrator.

He is the author of two books, "Last Train From Berlin," published in 1942, and "The State of Europe," published in 1949.

Smith was born in Ferriday, La., in 1914, and was graduated from Tulane in 1936. He then went to Germany to study briefly at Heidelberg University, and later to Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar. In 1939, he joined the United Press in London. He became CBS News' Berlin Correspondent in 1941.

Smith is married to the former Benedicte Traberg of Copenhagen, a former Berlin correspondent for a Danish newspaper. They have two children.

Camera Abstracts by C. Lewis Baltz at M.P.C.

An exhibition of 32 black-and-white "abstract landscapes" by Monterey Peninsula College photography student C. Lewis Baltz will open Monday, February 17, with a public reception from 8 to 10 p.m. in the college's library lecture hall.

The show will be on view thereafter from 4 to 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday until February 29.

Baltz, a student of Chester Smith at MPC, first "became aware" of photography at the age of 14. "I realized then that it is more than just taking pictures of your friends," he says.

"Now I feel, whenever there's a discussion as to whether or not photography is an art, that too much has been said concerning a question which has a self-evident answer: it can be."

Composing on the ground glass finder of his Rolleiflex, Baltz rarely finds it necessary to "crop" his pictures. His subjects are natural forms, many of them of the Monterey-Big Sur area. It is his treatment of the forms which is unique.

"I am ceaselessly amazed by the overwhelming powers of abstraction that become evident when any natural form is removed from its context," he says. "For myself, I have found two rather separate means to this end.

"The first, and most obvious, is simply to isolate the subject and allow its form and placement to create tensions against the edges of the picture . . . Another approach is taken when the organic whole transcends the aggregate value of all its parts."

Born in 1945, Baltz attended Newport Harbor High School. He did his first work in photography in Southern California and New Mexico, working with William R. Current. He has exhibited at The Image Gallery in Laguna Beach and at Wells Bookstore in Carmel, and he expects to have a show at Sancho Panza, Monterey, in March. While attending MPC, he has made his home in Carmel.

Mary M. Abercrombie a Visitor from Edinburgh

Visiting the Eugene C. Marbles in their Bixby Creek home "Division Knolls" is Mrs. David Abercrombie (Mary Marble) of Edinburgh, Scotland. Mary is the daughter of Mr. Marble and grew up here. It was while traveling in Europe she met and married David, who is professor of Linguistics at the University of Edinburgh.

Mary left Edinburgh at Christmas time and spent some time with her daughter (Mary Henderson Brown) in London, her son-in-law, David N. F. Brown and their four children. She plans to visit her son, C. M. Henderson, and his family is Oakland, before she leaves California for Hong Kong, taking the long way, back to Edinburgh.

Of her many girlhood friends here, one of the first Mrs. Abercrombie chatted with was Mrs. Francis (Connie) Palms. "I really haven't had time to get my breath yet," Mrs. Abercrombie said. "I do want to see every inch of Carmel, there seem to be so many many changes along the village streets, but not in the old part we all love. Friends may be interested to know that the John Shorts (he is Marie Short's son) have moved almost next door to us in Edinburgh. John and his family are blooming. My husband returned from Ghana shortly before I left for California, he had been there giving a lecture course and had fascinating tales to tell."

New Melodrama Opens At the First Theater

With Fred Roberts of K.I.D.D. as the hero and Marabee Rush (a First Theater favorite) as the blushing, pure, sweet heroine, "A Working Girl's Wrongs" opening tomorrow night at the First Theatre of Monterey, promises the audience heart throbs and thrills. Director Al Olinger states that the Gold Coast Players have gone all out in creating olio acts, startling and hilarious. "A Working Girl's Wrongs" will play Friday and Saturday nights through the early spring. A few tickets are still available for opening night.

Testimonial Dinner Set for Monterey Police Chief

The Monterey Police Department will host a testimonial dinner to their chief of 13 years, Charles Simpson, on Saturday evening, in Exhibition Hall of the Monterey County Fair Grounds.

Chief Simpson, universally admired by Monterey citizens, as well as his officers. He entered the Monterey Police service on April 1, 1942. He was named chief on Nov. 1, 1950. He retired Dec. 31, 1963.

Tom Cahill, San Francisco Chief of Police, will be the principal speaker, with Steve Magyar as master of ceremonies and Judge Ray Baugh contributing comedy. Still secret are testimonial speakers 'from the floor.'

Sgt. Bob Fischer Guest Speaker At Cub Dinner

Cub Scouts, Pack 48, sponsored by All Saints Episcopal Church, with Richard Duhring, Cubmaster, will hold their blue and gold Father and Son Dinner next Wednesday at All Saints Church, celebrating the 54th anniversary of Boy Scouts in America. High Point of the evening will be an address by Sgt. Bob Fischer of the Carmel Police Department.

Seated at the head table will be the Webelos, the senior Cubs who will become Boy Scouts. The Webelos will present the Flag Ceremony. Guests at the head table will be, Rev. David Hill, Rector of All Saints Church; Rev. Peter Farmer, Senior Warden Lloyd Armstrong, Jr., Warden Richard Hittinger; Institutional Representative Gordon MacKenzie and Sgt. Fischer.

Den 3 will present a skit on the founding of the Cub Packs in America.

Den 5 will present the birthday cake which they are busy creating, strictly non-edible.

Carmel Cub Scouts are the creators of the Scout Week window display in Raggets on Ocean Ave.

Second Grader Tells All in Science Report

Mark Brown of Mrs. Lucy Foster's second grade at River School today reported the results of an experiment he conducted with chicken feathers and water.

The experiment resulted following a demonstration given to the River School second graders last Wednesday, by Albert C. Kolb of the Carmel Junior High School.

"I put some water on a feather. It rolled off and the feather was dry, except for the fluffy part. I found out that feathers will keep the chicken dry, but when the fluffy part gets wet, it takes a long time to get dry.

"The fluffy part is to keep the chicken warm. It is found right next to the chicken underneath the (chickens') raincoat. (outside feathers).

"I hope you will come again soon and tell us a lot of other things about our animals. Miss Byrnes has a incubator and the eggs are cracking in it today."

Mark Brown

It appears that our "younger generation" at River School is experimenting in many areas.

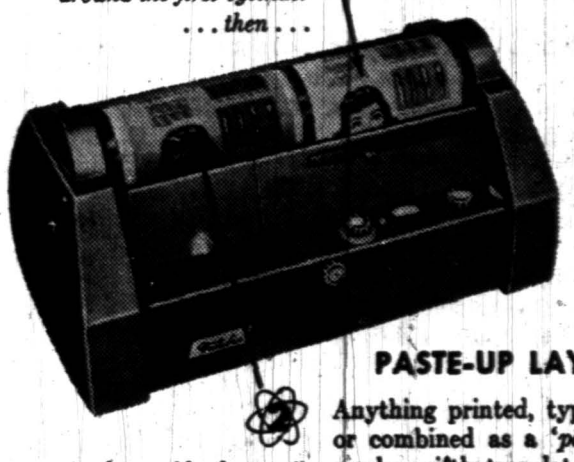
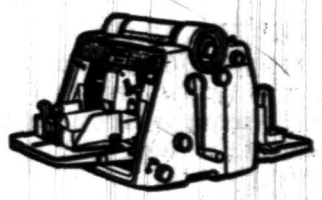
Gestefax makes mimeo stencils from original copy by electronics

. . . in 2 simple steps

Place your clippings, illustrations, printed matter, forms, or other copy around the first cylinder . . . then . . .



. . . place a blank stencil around the other cylinder and turn the switch. That's all . . . Gestefax does the rest.



Clippings • Drawings • Halftones • Charts • Typing • Letterheads • Forms • Bulletins •

. . . yes . . .
PASTE-UP LAYOUTS, too!

Anything printed, typed, or drawn, or combined as a 'paste-up layout', can be swiftly translated into a stencil which will immediately reproduce amazingly faithful copies on your own duplicator. Your office girl operates Gestefax at her desk and requires no training. In a matter of minutes, important and urgent material can be 'stencilized', run off, and distributed . . . without waiting for slow, costly camera work.

BUILT TO LAST FOREVER!

FOR SALE: One of Carmel's "old stone houses." Constructed for two school teachers (over thirty years ago) by Miles Bain, this U-shaped home features a tree-sheltered center courtyard. Its special Early-Carmel atmosphere is created by the mellowed board & batten Philippine mahogany (¾ inch thick) walls, aged redwood open ceiling and friendly granite hearth of the living room. To reach the two bedrooms one must pass through the cheerful dining area which is a part of the country kitchen with its Dutch-door access to the garden. The spacious bath has tub and separate tiled stall shower; closets provide built-in drawer storage units. One bedroom opens to a rear bricked patio with live-oaks and ferns; the master bedroom with its corner fireplace and wide sills offers Dutch-door access to the courtyard. Situated south of Ocean Avenue on a level street, and recently renovated with good judgment and excellent taste, this property represents excellent dollar value at its listed price of $32,500.

Answers to Questions about Western 65

Q. What is Western 65?
A. A health insurance plan (actually three plans), providing hospital-medical-surgical benefits exclusively for residents of California 65 and older and their spouses (regardless of age).

Q. Is it really new?
A. Yes. It has never been offered in California before.

Q. Why is it being offered now?
A. Because of recent California State legislation, which makes it possible for a group of America's leading insurance companies to pool their resources just to bring this much-needed health insurance to California's 65 and over residents.

Q. Do I have to have a physical examination?
A. No. Neither do you have to fill out a health questionnaire

Q. Can I enroll regardless of health?
A. Yes.

Q. Does Western 65 provide for hospital, surgical doctors' and nursing bills?
A. Yes. Your insurance agent or broker can give you full details of all three insurance plans.

Q. Can my son or daughter enroll for me?
A. Yes. You and your spouse also, provided you are residents of California and one of you is 65 or older. They may even pay the premiums, if they so elect. In fact, ANYONE may enroll you.

Q. What is the definition of a "resident" of California?
A. An individual whose principal place of residence is located in California.

Q. I am in a hospital now (or under nursing care). May I enroll?
A. No. But you may enroll after you have been out of a hospital or free from nursing care for a continuous period of 31 days, providing you make application during the initial enrollment period.

Q. If I become 65 after March 31, 1964, may I enroll?
A. Yes, within 60 days after you reach your 65th birthday.

Q. If I sign and then change my mind, can I get my money back?
A. Yes, if within ten days after receiving your certificate of insurance you decide you do not need the coverage, your money will be refunded upon request.

Q. My wife is under 65. If I should die will her coverage continue if she is still under 65?
A. Yes.

Q. Can my insurance be cancelled because of continued ill health?
A. No. Your Western 65 plan can be cancelled only if: (1) the Plan is cancelled for ALL enrollees; (2) you fail to make your premium payments; (3) you reside out of the U.S. or Canada for a continuous period of six months.

Q. When will my Western 65 insurance become effective?
A. On April 1, 1964, for those who enroll between March 1, 1964, and March 31, 1964.

Q. How are premiums payable?
A. Monthly. You will receive a payment booklet for your convenience.

Los Altos Hunt At Pebble Beach This Weekend

The Sixth Annual Los Altos Hunt and Race Meeting will be held at Pebble Beach this week end with Mrs. Marie Davies, Shreve M. Archer, Jr., Richard D. Collins and Richard Osborne heading the Race Committee.

Following an early luncheon for out-of-town guests at the Richard Collins' home, the Del Monte Forest Point-to-Point Race will start from the Pebble Beach Stables at 1:30. Other races to be held at Bird Rock along the 17-Mile-Drive during the afternoon are: The Signal Hill Junior Flat Race; the Bird Rock Ladies Steeplechase; and The Spyglass Hill Gentlemen's Steeplechase.

Saturday evening the annual dinner meeting of the Los Altos Hunt will be held at Del Monte Lodge, followed by dancing to which non-members and guests are invited.

Sunday morning at 10:30 a Drag Hunt will start from the Pebble Beach Stables, followed by a Hunt Breakfast at Del Monte Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborne, hosts.

Officials of the Race Meeting include Mrs. Elliott Slocum Nichols of Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, who is spending the winter in Pebble Beach. She is a member of the Bloomfield Open Hunt, the Metamora Hunt Club and the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club; her daughter, Mrs. Howard Allen of Pebble Beach, and Mr. Cortland Hill, also of Pebble Beach.

Among those participating in the two-day event are: Dr. T. D. Harris, William Wallace Mein, Jr., Gilbert Richards, Misty Cooke, all of Woodside; Mrs. Gregory Baldwin of Hillsborough; R. W. Decker, Debbie Decker, Los Altos; Mrs. John Bates, Piedmont; Ralph George, San Francisco; Mrs. Peter Lambert, Sausalito; Mrs. Richard Waller, D. D. Waller, and Katherine Waller, Berkeley.

Pebble Beach entrants include: Mrs. Marie E. Davies, Richard D. Collins, Michael Collins, Shreve M. Archer, Jr., Pamela Hately, Leslie Woods, Mrs. Edward Penhoet, Mrs. Alex Hale, Ernest Simard III, and Tom Bishop.

Tim W. Durant of Beverly Hills will come to defend his title in the Gentlemen's Steeplechase event.

Jr. High Parent-Faculty Club to Meet Tuesday

"Art in Action," is the topic of the next meeting of the Carmel Junior High School Parent-Faculty Club. Parents are asked to meet in the library of the junior high at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 18, for a short business meeting. From there they will be free to visit the homemaking room, the art department, and the workshops of the arts and crafts and industrial art departments. The students will be giving actual demonstrations of their skills in these fields, and refreshments will be served in the various rooms.

Col. and Mrs. Arthur Black, co-presidents of the club, most cordially invite all junior high parents to come and see what their children are accomplishing. Mrs. Robert Ingalls, membership chairman, will have membership cards all ready to fill out for those present who have not yet joined. The money from the very low dues is to be used for scholastic purposes.

School) and William Canno.

Fashion designer Alexandre of Carmel awarded a spring ensemble (to be made to order) to Miss Diet Mgoc Mguyen, instructor in Vietnamese at the Defense Language School. Miss Mguyen appeared in a superb costume of her native land.

A similar prize was awarded by Alexandre to Mrs. Dagnin, guest of David Walton, whose romantic 18th Century costume was a symphony in pastels.

Honor guests of the evening were Col. Richard J. Long, commandant of the Defense Language Institute, West Coast Branch, and Mrs. Long.

what's doing?

During 1964, Pacific Telephone's construction program in California will be the biggest in the company's history, amounting to $419 million. This money will help to create thousands of jobs, not only in the telephone industry but in construction and manufacturing, and among the thousands of suppliers we do business with in hundreds of communities throughout the state. Our $419 million program is a big factor in the state's economy—and another way we're making sure that telephone service is keeping up with California's growth.

Interesting fact: During a three-minute long distance call, you can say all the words in an average two page letter. For example, if you talk slowly, you'll say about 450 words. When you talk a "blue streak," the number of words zooms to about 750. In comparison, Lincoln used 267 words in his Gettysburg Address. If spoken over the phone, it'd be well within a three-minute period. So, fast or slow, you can say a lot for very little when you call long distance.

Here's something you might want to keep in mind. When you need help in an emergency, our Operator is as near as your telephone and ready to h "time.

Nowadays, coin telephones come in several styles such as this new walk-up type shown with Monterey Commercial Representative, Ray Johnson, on the Monterey Marina float. In addition you will find drive-up telephones, located throughout the Monterey Peninsula area, where you can make a call without getting out of your car. These plus the familiar indoor and outdoor coin phones make up the more than 104,000 now in use throughout the state. This helps make sure you'll alwaws have a telephone handy whenever you're away from home.
